

Robert “Bob” Will

Born in 1931 in Los Angeles, Will attended City schools, obtained his bachelor’s degree at Loyola University and studied law at the University of Southern California. He worked in the law department of a regional utility and was then transferred to represent the agency in Washington DC for seven years. He later returned to California to become General Counsel of the agency.

In 1980 he resigned to return to Washington DC to start his own firm where he practiced until retirement in 2003. His practice centered on natural resources, energy and infrastructure for entities throughout the West.

In addition to volunteering at the Center for the Arts, he does cataloguing of historic documents and files for the City Library and is President of the Pioneer Room Friends, a support group for the Library’s archives and historic collections.

Bob lives in Escondido with his wife Jean. They have four grown children.
